ABOUT THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

A new era in world sport will get underway in the summer of 2018 as Glasgow and Berlin host the inaugural European Championships — an exciting new multi-sport event bringing together some of the continent's leading sports, with Glasgow and Scotland hosting Aquatics, Cycling, Golf, Gymnastics, Rowing and Triathlon, and Berlin hosting Athletics.

To be staged every four years starting in August 2018, the European Championships will be a new highlight on the global sporting calendar, elevating the status of European Champions during an 11-day celebration of world-class sport and a packed 10-day broadcast schedule.

Scotland's recent sporting journey has been nothing short of remarkable. Fresh from delivering the best ever Commonwealth Games in 2014, The 2014 Ryder Cup and the 2015 World Gymnastics Championships, Glasgow and Scotland will play host to 12 sporting disciplines as part of the Glasgow 2018 European Championships.

The Championships will take Scotland's sporting reputation to the next level. A potential television audience of up to 1.03 billion across Europe is set to watch the action. Our venues will again be in the spotlight with the event being covered by free-to-air broadcasters, including the BBC, across the continent.

Delivered in partnership with the European sports federations and supported by Glasgow City Council and the Scottish Government, the Championships will allow the hosts to continue their legacy journey by inspiring the next generation of young athletes as well as offering cultural and volunteering opportunities.

An action-packed programme of cultural activity will run alongside the Championships, capitalising on Glasgow and Scotland's international reputation for creative excellence and allowing everyone to play their part in the celebrations. Glasgow's iconic George Square will form the beating heart of these activities, alongside Merchant City Festival, with other live sites planned across the country.

2018 will be Scotland's Year of Young People and we look forward to celebrating the role that young people play in sport and culture, and the crucial contributions they will make to Glasgow 2018.

WELCOME

Scotland's fantastic scenery, architecture and people will be beamed across the world during the 2018 European Championships and it's the perfect opportunity to show what we can offer, both in terms of hosting major tournaments and as a tourist destination. We already have an impeccable reputation for hosting major tournaments, such as the 2014 Commonwealth Games and The 2014 Ryder Cup, and this is our chance to enhance that.

Athletes, spectators and officials know they can expect a great welcome to Scotland and we look forward to opening our doors to the world and putting on 11 days of great sporting action.

Aileen Campbell, MSP

Scottish Government Minister for Sport

Glasgow's sporting reputation has never been higher having recently been named as one of the world's top five sporting cities. Our success over the years has been built on our international sporting events programme and investment in world-class facilities. Glasgow 2018 will allow us to continue that journey.

But the Glasgow 2018 European Championships are about much more than elite sporting competition. Glasgow is a gateway to Scotland and events such as the European Championships will help us attract more than one million more people to the city as part of our Tourism and Visitor Plan by 2023, delivering a real economic legacy.

Councillor Susan Aitken

Leader of Glasgow City Council

GLASGOW

VIBRANT CITY & GATEWAY TO SCOTLAND

Glasgow is the largest city in Scotland and is internationally recognised as one of Europe's most exciting destinations with its wealth of cultural attractions; world class architecture and design; status as the UK's first ever UNESCO City of Music and year round programme of festivals and major events — including its joint hosting with Berlin of the inaugural European Championships in August 2018.

Offering free admission, Glasgow's civic museums and galleries are of global importance and include the stunning Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum, cutting-edge Gallery of Modern Art and the iconic Riverside Museum, which is also a former European Museum of the Year.

This vibrant city is also renowned for its outstanding architectural heritage from medieval and Victorian splendour to the Art Nouveau genius of Charles Rennie Mackintosh and contemporary masterpieces by Foster + Partners and Zaha Hadid.

Glasgow has a superb food and drink scene, which ensures that there is something to suit everyone's taste and is the biggest retail centre in the UK outside London's West End, making shopping a delight.

Officially named as the 'World's Friendliest City', a warm welcome is always guaranteed whenever you visit. Glasgow brims with energy, passion and humour as exemplified by the city's different neighbourhoods — each with their own distinctive personalities and attractions to discover.

Glasgow is also the perfect gateway to Scotland as the city lies at the heart of a major air, rail and road network with some of world's most beautiful scenery right on its doorstep waiting to be explored.

SCOTLAND IT'S MADE FOR THE MOMENT

Sports fans the world over will be tuning in to the European Championships. So where better to showcase this exciting new event than Scotland the Perfect Stage.

Famed for its incredible sports venues and staging world-class events — Scotland delivered the 'best ever' Commonwealth Games and an epic Ryder Cup in 2014, followed by the World Gymnastics Championships in 2015. Add to that exuberant crowds, electric atmospheres, spectacular scenery and a warm welcome and you've a sporting location like no other.

Edinburgh, Scotland's inspiring capital, where centuries of history meet a dynamic, cosmopolitan city amid an unforgettable setting, will host the Diving event at the Royal Commonwealth Pool.

North Lanarkshire's Strathclyde Country Park – over 400 hectares of countryside set within the valley of the River Clyde – will host both the Rowing and Triathlon.

This lush green country park, with its vast range of activities on offer, is one of the most popular family destinations in the central belt of Scotland, and attracts thousands of visitors each year.

For the Open Water Swimming competition, athletes will take to the glimmering waters of Loch Lomond against the impressive backdrop of Ben Lomond, Scotland's most southerly Munro. And you'll be immersed in breathtaking scenery once again for the golfing event at the world-class resort of Gleneagles, located in postcard-perfect Perth & Kinross.

In Scotland, every moment is sure to be memorable.

CULTURAL FESTIVAL

Communities across Glasgow and Scotland will be buzzing with activity during the Summer of 2018. A dynamic cultural festival will be developed to run alongside the Glasgow 2018 European Championships.

Glasgow's iconic George Square will be the beating heart of the festival during Championships time. Bringing the city centre to life through a programme that has something for everyone, putting Glasgow and Scotland's world class cultural and creative contribution in the spotlight.

Merchant City Festival, the centrepiece of Glasgow's summer events calendar, will form an integral part of the cultural festival in the summer of 2018, adding to the excitement in the city through an enhanced celebration of this unique urban space.

The cultural festival will broaden access and engagement through a range of opportunities designed to enable venues and communities to get involved in the celebrations.

Through a ground-breaking cultural partnership between Glasgow and 2018 European Championships co-host Berlin, the cultural festival will highlight the creative scenes of both cities in a programme that is truly European in outlook.

Expect the best in music, visual art, street art, dance, theatre, digital art, comedy and a whole host of other performances alongside the 11 days of world-class sporting action.

Visit glasgow2018.com for more details, as they are announced.
